The President also authorized O'Brien to increase the hours that windows are open in nearly 15,000 post offices across the nation.

Post office window hours and parcel post delivery service were cut back as an economy measure in May, 1964. The White House said the improved service will go into effect as soon as Congress provides the necessary funds. The cost of the improved service was estimated at $15 million a year.

Welcomed by Moroney

The authorization of the expanded services was welcomed by Sen. Mike Moroney (D-Okla.), chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee.
